College Prep Transition Conference
December 2, 2017

What is it?
College Prep Transition is a day-long conference offered to high school students with disabilities and their parents. The goal of the conference is to provide students with knowledge and understanding of the transition process. We also hope to help parents and students learn about the differences between high school and college to allow them to better prepare for those adjustments.

What will it offer?
Specific workshops that will be held are:
- living on campus versus commuting
- how college is different than high school
- career readiness and planning
- attending a two-year versus a four-year college
- how to prepare to transition to college
- parent to parent workshop
- first hand experiences from current students and alumni

The registration fee is $50.00 for individuals. If a student and parent register together, they’re combined registration fee is $60.00. Any additional attendants have a $15.00 registration fee. Registration form on back.
