Rowan University is a Carnegie classified national doctoral research institution dedicated to excellence in undergraduate education. Founded in 1923, Rowan University has evolved from a teacher preparation school to a comprehensive research university that’s ranked by U.S. News & World Report among the best national public research universities in the nation. The historic $100 million Rowan gift in 1992 put the institution on the fast track, fostered the creation of the College of Engineering and enabled ambitious growth. Nearly 96 percent of Rowan students are New Jersey residents. In all, the student body hails from 42 states and 32 countries.

For the second consecutive year, Rowan is the fourth fastest-growing research university the among nation’s public doctoral institutions.

- Undergraduates routinely conduct research with graduate students and faculty throughout the institution.
- Prestigious awards: since 2000, 25 students have won Fulbrights; since 2016, six have won Boren; and since 2017, two have earned Goldwaters.
- Interdisciplinary Honors College provides “extras” to elevate already excellent programs into a superior foundation for graduate school and employment.
