GETTING TO YOUR ROOM

- To activate your card to access your room, you will need to hold it at an external card reader until the reader beeps blue, the light turns green, and becomes programmed. These activation card readers are located at each entrance of the building.
- Your room is listed as a letter and a 3-digit number. The letter corresponds to your pod and the 3-digit number is the room number. The first number in that sequence is the floor where you are located.
 - The 4-story section of the building houses pods A, B, C, and D.
 - The 7-story section of the building houses pods E, F, and G.
- The map above shows you where all of the elevators are in the building. If you live in pods A-D and need to go to floor 2-4, you should use the A or C pod elevators or the stairs. If you live in pods E-G and need to access floors 2-7, you can use any stairwell or the E or F pod elevators.
