

About

The English Language Program (ELP) at Rowan University is a university intensive academic-English program for international and local resident students, and the goal is to prepare students for university success.

This program has had a history of over 50 years helping students from non-English speaking countries all over the world and have had great careers in the U.S. and other countries.

We offer an on-campus program, which is 18 hours per week, and an online program, which is 6 hours per week. The on-campus program is held on the main Rowan University Campus in Glassboro, New Jersey.

Academics

The ELP has five (5) levels:

- Level 1: Beginner
- Level 2: Low-Intermediate
- Level 3: Intermediate
- Level 4: High Intermediate
- Level 5: Advanced

After taking a placement test, you will be placed in the level that best suits your knowledge of the English language.

If you successfully complete Level 5, further language testing is not required for admission to the University.
