Supportive Measures Under Title IX

What are Supportive Measures?

Defined under regulation as, free, non-disciplinary, and non-punitive services offered to complainants and respondents under Title IX. They are designed to preserve or restore equal access to education, protect the safety of all parties and the campus environment, and prevent further harassment.

Supportive measures may include:

- Mutual No-Contact Directives
- Counseling
- Extensions of deadlines or other course-related adjustments
- Modifications of work or class schedules
- Campus escort services
- Housing changes or work location changes
- Leaves of absence
- Increased security and monitor of certain areas of the campus

Please note, staff and/or faculty should NOT remove a student from class without coordinating the removal through the OSEC.

If you feel there is an immediate threat, contact RUPD at 856-256-4922.

How are the supportive measures implemented?

Under the Regulations, the Title IX Coordinator is responsible for the effective implementation of supportive measures. As such, all supportive measures should be coordinated through the OSEC. If you feel a supportive measure is necessary in your educational program or activity, please contact the Title IX Coordinator to discuss.

This does not, however, mean that if a student reports an instance of sexual harassment to you, you cannot advise the student of available supportive measures. Remember, all faculty are Responsible Employees under Rowan's Title IX and Student Sexual Misconduct and Harassment Policies.
