Conditions of employment:
Qualifications: PROS must be undergraduate students at Rowan University and be in good standing with a minimum 2.5 GPA and no outstanding sanctions and/or current judicial violations within the past year. PROS should be able to assume leadership roles and complete all assigned tasks. Positive representation of Rowan University is required. Commitment to serving students, parents, and other University staff, including diverse populations, and a customer service philosophy are necessary. Previous experience in a team or community living environment is helpful, but not required.

Time commitment: PROS are required to attend all training sessions and staff meetings. PROS may not have other time commitments during summer orientation programs. Advance approval is necessary to enroll in summer term classes that does not interfere with PROS. All selected PROS will be given a schedule of expected coverage in advance so that you may plan personal time accordingly. Training begins during the 2018 spring term.

Staff retreat
PROS will participate in a weekend retreat departing campus by 5 p.m. on Friday, March 2nd and returning by 4 p.m. on Sunday, March 4th. An additional Saturday training session in April is also required (date and times TBD).

Spring training
Training workshops are 6:30–9:30 p.m. on these Wednesday evenings: February 28; March 7, 21, & 28; and April 4, 11, 18, & 25. Please ensure you are NOT scheduled for classes 6:30–9:30 p.m. Wednesday evenings if you intend to hold a PROS position!

Rowan Leadership Summit
PROS are expected to participate in the Rowan Leadership Summit Sunday, April 15th.

Orientation Prep & Commencement
PROS are expected to assist with preparing orientation materials and assisting with commencement exercises May 6th–11th as assigned (do not schedule any other activities this week!).

Summer training
PROS are required to be ready for summer work beginning 5 p.m. Monday, June 11th. PROS will participate in all-day staff training sessions on Tuesday, June 12th – Friday, June 15th.
Transfer & Freshmen Orientation
PROS will work during all transfer and freshmen orientation programs from Monday, June 18th – Friday, August 3rd. Orientation programs will take place Monday–Friday, and PROS are required to have all day availability. Dates for specific orientation dates will be given to PROS prior to the start of the summer. PROS are not required to work on weekends or on Wednesday, July 4th.

Closing day
PROS will participate in all–day closing activities on Friday, August 3rd.

International Orientation, Welcome Weekend, and Start Up Smart
PROS will assist with International Orientation and Welcome Weekend programming, Monday, August 27th – Tuesday, September 3rd. PROS will assist with Start Up Smart programming throughout the first three weeks of the fall term.

EACH OF THE DATES LISTED ABOVE ARE NON-NEGOTIABLE REQUIREMENTS OF THE PROS POSITION.

Contract: All PROS will be required to sign a contract and adhere to the following guidelines:
- Be punctual, reliable, and conscientious in the performance of all responsibilities.
- Submit an end–of–orientation evaluative report.
- Must live in the assigned residence hall during freshman orientation programs.
- May not be enrolled in any summer session courses without advance supervisor permission.
- Must follow all state/local laws and University policies regarding alcohol and other drug use. Must not consume alcohol during the orientation period.
- Must adhere to and enforce the University’s rules and regulations, especially those stated for residence halls.

Remuneration:
The hourly wage for PROS begins at $8.75 per hour. PROS earn approximately $200 per week during the summer orientation (June 11th–August 3rd). PROS have the opportunity to earn up to $3000 over the duration of their yearlong contract.

PROS also receive more than $1,400 in meals and a $441 summer housing waiver. Housing is provided from June 11 to August 3, 2018, and board is provided only during orientation programming. Total non-salary compensation (staff development, uniforms, etc.) totals over $2,250. Understanding of student and team development, experience planning student service programs and working in a community living & team setting will be gained, along with the satisfaction of representing Rowan University.
Housing options:

For commuting students:
Students may commute until Monday, June 11th. All PROS are required to stay overnight in provided residential housing the night prior to an orientation session or training and the night of an orientation session from June 11th – August 3rd.

For residential students:
You are able to apply for an extended stay through Commencement at no additional charge. Depending on summer use, you may be relocated to an alternate assignment. For the summer orientation program, two options are available:

- Summer housing: PROS may stay on campus throughout the summer (between Commencement and June 11th and after August 3rd) for a nominal charge. The summer term employee housing rate can be applied to your student account or paid by payroll deduction. The 2017 rates ranged from $9–26 per day depending on building preference.

- Orientation program only housing: Housing will be provided in assigned orientation residence halls Monday, June 11th – Friday, August 3rd. All PROS are required to stay overnight in provided residential housing the night prior to an orientation session or training and the night of an orientation session from June 11th – August 3rd.

Application process:
Applications must be submitted via ProfLink no later than 11:45pm on Wednesday, December 6, 2017.

The group interview process (Saturday, January 20 or Wednesday, January 24, 2018) is designed to assess each candidate's communication and listening skills, flexibility, maturity, cooperation, responsibility, self-initiative, and leadership style in a diverse team environment. Group interviews are often an educational and enlightening experience for the applicants.

The individual interview (pending invitation) focuses on the candidate's interests and experiences at the University and qualifications relating to the position. Those selected for an individual interview will be asked to submit two references. Reference forms will be provided. These references should be solicited from former or present employers and/or Rowan faculty or staff. No decisions will be made on any applicant until all interviews have been completed. Staffing decisions will be made by February 15, 2018.

Interview tips:
We are looking for reliable, enthusiastic, and resourceful students who embrace the Rowan spirit and can represent our campuses appropriately to new students and their families. Students who can represent themselves well and show a commitment to teamwork will be prime candidates for a PROS position.

Additionally, common interview skills such as timeliness, excellent verbal and written communication, understanding of the position, and the ability to express personal goals are helpful. You are encouraged to ask any questions you may have to orientation staff members prior to, during, or after the interview. Wear comfortable, casual clothing to your group interview and more traditional interview attire to your individual interview.

References:
Those selected for an individual interview will be asked to submit two references at that time. Reference forms will be provided when invited. These references should be solicited from former or present employers and/or Rowan faculty or staff. You may wish to ask people to serve as a reference for you early in the selection process, and then follow up and provide the reference forms later when invited to the individual interview. This will provide your references ample time to compose their comments and submit the reference by the February 5, 2018 deadline.
Frequently asked questions:

Who are the PROS?
Peer Referral and Orientation Staff (PROS) members are currently enrolled students who have been selected and trained to offer educational services to their peers. These services are intentionally designed to assist in the adjustment, satisfaction and persistence of students toward attainment of their educational goals. The PROS, performing in paraprofessional roles, are compensated for their services and supervised by qualified professionals. PROS work primarily in the area of personal and social concerns, assisting students in their general adjustment to the college community. The role of the PROS is not to solve people’s problems for them, but rather to assist them in finding their own solutions. They act as resource persons to direct their fellow students to on-campus facilities and professionals appropriate to their needs.

Why should I join the PROS?
Peer Referral and Orientation Staff (PROS) will benefit from not only learning how to better help others, but also by gaining new insights into themselves and their relationships with peers. The PROS will gain valuable experience to further their career development, increase their feelings of self-worth and confidence, and receive additional knowledge of and contact with key persons on campus.

What does it take to become one of the PROS?
PROS need communication & leadership skills, the ability to work well as part of a group, and the time necessary to participate fully in training and orientation responsibilities. Applicants must not have any outstanding student conduct sanctions and overall be a good role model to other students academically and personally. Successful candidates post an effective résumé, complete an application, and participate in a group interview process to see how well you work with others; selected candidates will participate in an individual interview with Student Life staff and Orientation Assistants (OAs) so we can learn more about what you would contribute to our team.

What kind of training will I need to become a PROS member?
Students selected as PROS are required to attend a weekend training retreat and eight weekly training sessions during the spring semester. Training pertains to understanding the student helper’s role, student development theory, basic facilitation skill development, active listening, effective verbal and non-verbal communication, and the use of campus resources and referral techniques. Successful completion of training responsibilities is required to join the PROS.

Can I take a summer class?
Due to the longer meeting times of summer term courses, it is unlikely that you could enroll in a traditional summer term course and be available enough to successfully fulfill your PROS responsibilities. In the past, PROS have completed online or weekend courses successfully. Any enrollment in summer term courses is subject to advance supervisor approval.

Will I have student or parent orientation groups?
All PROS are expected to work with both the student and parent & family orientation programs. Each session, PROS are scheduled to work with a student or parent & family orientation group, or assist with administrative tasks. PROS assignments vary from session to session throughout the summer. You will gain valuable experience working with a variety of new student and adult populations, including family members, freshmen, transfer students, and university faculty & staff.
