| 1 | Regarding underground mark outs; does the contractor need to include a private company for this information?

The Bidder shall engage a Utility Locater as needed to avoid any underground utilities. The Campus does not have any underground plans to share on utilities. |
| 2 | During concrete breakout, excavation, and concrete pouring should there occur any damage to other areas how is reimbursement to be handled?

See question #5. |
| 3 | Could the actual areas to be replaced be marked out, there were questions on what was to come out along with possible moving of benches and seats and putting back?

Rowan will mark out the areas to be replaced once the Contract is awarded. |
| 4 | Based on the site visit, it seems that there are color deviations of existing sidewalk. Is there a certain concrete color that the contractor must adhere to?

The Contractor shall provide one consistent color throughout. That color should be coordinated and submitted for review and approval by Rowan. |
| 5 | There are several benches located throughout the site. Some of them must be moved using heavy equipment in order to perform the work. Since it’s uncertain how stable the subbase is, there is a possibility of accidental damage to existing sidewalk not included in the scope of work. Does the contractor bear responsibility for all accidental damage?

The Contractor shall move the benches as needed. The Contractor shall also provide whatever means are necessary to avoid breaking/damaging existing property. Any damages caused shall be replaced at the Contractor’s expense. |
