

Senate Resolution for Additional Release Time

In order to continue to develop the research capabilities of Rowan University, faculty with high scholarly and/or creative activity must receive an adjusted load whereby they teach fewer than 18 credits per year. Furthermore, we believe that the reduction of the teaching load for such faculty should not be offset by a reduction of adjusted load availability to other faculty who demonstrate scholarly and/or creative activity. We believe this change is essential to furthering our research capacity and enhancing the visibility of Rowan University in the upper echelons of academic research.
