Rowan University is proud to offer internships abroad starting summer 2018 in Valencia, Spain! This eight-week program is designed for students seeking to gain real-world experiences in an international setting. The program is worth 6 credits and designed for Rowan students in all majors.

Students will have the opportunity to identify their top choices (companies are listed below in red) and work with Rowan’s Education Abroad Coordinator, Laura Kahler, to determine the company that most closely aligns with their major and career aspirations. This process is two-fold as the employer will also need to agree to host the student intern.

Hotel Neptuno
Contact: Marina Corbacho, Co-Director

The Hotel Neptuno is a small hotel located on the beach “Las Arenas” in Valencia City. The hotel has 50 rooms in total, some of them facing at the Mediterranean Sea. We have also a restaurant called “El Tridente”. The stages that we can offer for the students are: Front desk, revenue management, food and beverage management. In the front desk department they learn to check-in/out guests, customer service, back office tasks, and events management. In the restaurant, the students learn how a maître manages the restaurant service and providers. The revenue department manages all websites, closes and open availability, load information and photos in all extranets, and manages the rates online.

Museo d’Història de València
Contact: Javier López Cavero

Valencia History Museum (MhV) was created in agreement with the Commission of Government of the Valencia City Council on January 12, 2001. Its mission is to promote the history of the city, from the origins to present day, covering archaeological, artistic, and cultural heritage. The MhV is located in the former city cistern that was built in 1850 by Ildefonso Cerdá and Leodegario Marchessaux. The building was designed by Calixto Santa Cruz and represents a beautiful example of the Valencian industrial architecture. It was the first engineering project in Valencia of the nineteenth century. The restoration maintains great respect for the architectural heritage. Therefore, we can currently enjoy a real site of beauty at the museum. The MhV aims to give visitors a rich visual idea of Valencian history and traditions in an entertaining way, while maintaining true to historical rigor. The MhV was awarded by the Diputación de Valencia as Cultural Project of the year 2003.

Job description: The intern will assist in writing museum information and documents in English, serving as the museum’s contact responsible for articles written in English. The intern will also research and implement projects that the museum can have during the stay of the intern.

NGOs “Red Fuerza Activa”: Ilewasi
Contacts: Pere, Mari Paz Ramos

Red Fuerza Activa
Projects related to Human Rights:

ILÈWASI began its journey as a volunteer organization since its birth as an association in 2009. ILÈWASI arises from the need of several technicians from different NGDOs to work more with in-depth themes such as Interculturality, as its demands was increasing in most schools and high schools in the province of Castellón. At the same time, awareness of topics such as the Children Rights and networks of young people enjoying the adventure of volunteering were increasing. One of the premises of ILÈWASI is that volunteers can choose if they want to focus on:

- Human Rights and Intercultural Education (workshops at schools and high schools)
- Volunteering onsite and online: using Facebook and other social media platforms, or working with tools such as Trello and Dropbox.
- European Volunteering (IW is accredited as a coordinating organization, sending and receiving European Voluntary Service - Erasmus+)
- International volunteering (mainly in Colombia)

ILÈWASI has been awarded as the best volunteering internship by the University Jaume I (UJI) in 2010, is part of the Voluntariat Platform at the Valencian region (PVCV), and is part of UJI Voluntària, a volunteering program for university students where continuous training takes place. The organization has a great culture of volunteering with a technician and a coordinator specifically dedicated to this area.

Aravolo
Contacts: David Senar, Miguel and Jorge.

We are one of the start-ups with the greatest projection and development in recent years. Our field is leisure and tourism, helping both hotels and accommodation facilities for tourists to offer the best selection of activities to its customers as quickly and easily as possible. Thanks to our team of engineers with over 12 years’ experience in the sector, it has been possible to develop a functional platform through which our customers have to streamline their services more efficiently. This platform is Aravolo. This team, before the creation of Aravolo, had concentrated all its efforts on reducing pollution in cities from its base in Valencia, through the project of a bike rental called Senatibikes, which devoted all efforts to invest in new products and services that will help the elimination of pollution in urban areas. This project, although parallel to Aravolo, still present in the spirit of the company and continues its ecological commitment.

Our practice will be based in the department of business development, translations, marketing and sales that may include also the tasks of accounting and finance. At the first period of their internship, interns start with the customer service tasks and administration tasks in our bike rental store in order to get to know our reservation system as well as our platform and to develop their communication skills. Students will have a tutor within this department with over ten years’ experience in the sector, who will provide the ability to acquire knowledge for their career. Also, the supervisor will give them the tools so they can develop their skills along the internship period.

Some of the tasks that will integrate practice:
- Expansion of the domestic market; Attracting new customers (different profiles of accommodation, from large chains to family hostels); Support the sales team in the business strategy of the brand; Administration tasks (accounting, balance, closing cash machine...); Developing social networks (blogging); Attracting new suppliers that offer the best services in the area; Uploading new products on platform. The internship tasks will be adjusted to the individual intern profile according their studies, skills and hobbies.
