More About Sarah

Hi everyone! My name is Sarah-Grace, and I'm a Biology major in Rowan's 3+4 BS/DO program with plans to pursue a career in women's health. Outside of academics, I'm involved in leadership through AMWA, work as a Community Assistant on campus, and stay involved in community outreach and volunteering. I'm excited to be part of WAN and looking forward to learning from and connecting with such a driven and supportive group of women.

Campus Involvement: Vice President of Rowan University's American Medical Women's Association (AMWA); Community Assistant (CA) in Residential Learning & University Housing

Volunteer & Community Engagement: A lot of my experiences revolve around healthcare, mentorship, and working with kids. I've also volunteered with a women's shelter, which has been especially meaningful to me because it reinforced how important support systems and advocacy are for women in vulnerable situations. I really value making people feel comfortable and supported, whether through leadership, outreach, or everyday interactions.
